Concerns raised over EDL links to 'peaceful' march

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsexnews.co.uk

THE organiser of a 'charity march' in memory of murdered soldier Lee Rigby has dismissed claims the event is a front for far-right political group the English Defence League.

Harlow Strong, which is set to take place next Sunday, is being billed as a "peaceful t-shirt charity march" - despite similar events organised under the banner of the 'Woolwich Strong' movement being exposed as having direct links to far-right groups.

Organiser Leo Hartley has invited hundreds of people to the rally via social networking site Facebook - but vehemently denies it has any connection to the EDL or other right-wing extremists.

"This is a peaceful march, I cannot stress that enough," he said.

"We do not have any political affiliations with any groups and no violence will be tolerated on the day.

"We will have police officers joining us on the march and everyone is invited. This is a peaceful march and anyone that does attend has been told to leave their politics at home."

The Woolwich Strong movement was set up following the murder of Drummer Lee Rigby, pictured right, and inspired by the Boston Strong marches organised in the wake of the Boston Marathon bombings in April.

But several of the marches organised under its banner have been shown to have direct links with the EDL, Combined Ex-Forces and other far-right groups.

David Forman of Harlow Trades Council expressed his concerns about the Harlow event to the Star.

"The problem is that the group is trying to be subtle about any possible connections with far-right groups, as other Strong marches have been proven to have," he said.

"These Strong marches are trying to use a section of the community as a scapegoat. Violence cannot resolve anything, in fact, it makes things much worse."

He said HTC had organised a "peaceful alternative" to the Harlow Strong march taking place the day before.

"Our peaceful march will show our sympathy for Lee Rigby and his family and show that we are against violence in all forms and towards all groups of people."

His concerns were echoed by the town's branch of Unite Against Fascism.

A group spokesman told the Star: "The Woolwich Strong marches all have worrying links to the EDL, CxF and other far-right groups so of course we are very concerned with this coming to town."

"This is the only march of its kind planned for Essex, so we are faced with the prospect of undesirables coming from all over the county to promote something we have been, and are, working very hard to remove from Harlow.

"Why invite people from the EDL, BNP, CxF and other far-right groups if this is supposed to be a protest against extremism? We will not take this lying down."

Harlow MP Rob Halfon also expressed concerns over the march.

"If the Harlow Strong march is linked to the EDL in any way then I am opposed to it," he said.

"I am supportive of what David Forman is doing, however, with a peaceful march next Saturday which is all about promoting tolerance."

TRAGIC: Claire Parrish, pictured here with four-year-old niece Karis, was described as a "loving mum, sister, aunt and nanny" by her grieving family

Family pays tribute to 'amazing mum'

THE distraught family of Claire Parrish paid tribute to an "amazing mum and nanny" after her killer was jailed for life this week.

In a statement released via Essex Police following the conviction of Ms Parrish's partner Mark Golds for her murder, they said: "She was the best daughter you could hope for; an amazing mum and nanny who doted on her grandson.

"Mark Golds has not only taken a daughter, he has taken a loving sister, aunt, mum and nanny. Claire should have had so many years to watch her young family grow up, but they were brutally taken from her; leaving a family shattered and one which will never recover.

"The adults realise that Claire will never be coming back, but her two elder children constantly have panic attacks, and feel very alone while her two younger children are constantly distressed and ask when their mummy is coming home from hospital.

"These 10 months have been sheer hell. This monster has not only murdered Claire, but he has destroyed her family. One evil act, so many ruined lives."

Victims of domestic abuse encouraged to seek help from police

IN the wake of Claire Parrish's tragic death at the hands of her violent partner, Essex Police have urged other victims of domestic violence to seek help - before it is too late.

Speaking after Mark Golds's conviction for murder, Senior Investigating Officer DCI Stuart Hooper said: "Ms Parrish had never once contacted the police to report his violent behaviour and so, sadly, we never knew of her tormented life and so could not have stopped her suffering.

"We only hope that those people - men or women - who are entwined in cruel and unhappy relationships with their partners have the courage to contact us and allow us to help them get out of such terrible times.

"If there is something to be learned from this case, then it is that the police service is there to help people who feel trapped in such violent domestic partnerships."

'Controlling' killer facing life in prison

THE self-confessed killer of tragic mum-of-four Claire Parrish was jailed for life yesterday (Wednesday) after being found guilty of his partner's brutal murder.

Mark Golds (46) stabbed, slashed and kicked Ms Parrish to death in the bedroom of the house they shared in Copshall Close on July 15 last year.

He will have to spend a minimum of 15 years behind bars before being considered for parole.

The former nightclub doorman had admitted manslaughter but denied murder on the grounds of "diminished responsibility".

However, it took the jury at Chelmsford Crown Court less than two hours to reach a guilty verdict on Tuesday afternoon. Golds was then sentenced by Judge Christopher Ball yesterday (Wednesday).

During the two-week murder trial, the court heard how Golds - who has a history of psychotic illness - had launched a "sustained and terrifying" assault against his partner after the couple returned home from a family barbecue at Ms Parrish's mother's house.

The mum-of-four sustained more than 50 injuries in the frenzied attack after being repeatedly stabbed and slashed with a serrated kitchen knife.

But according to evidence given by pathologist Dr Benjamin Swift, the killer blow was most probably caused by Golds stamping on his victim's abdomen as she lay wounded on the floor, causing massive internal bleeding.

Passing sentence, Judge Ball told the defendant: "I have to make a judgement whether you intended to kill her. I am satisfied that was your intention although you were suffering from illness.

"It was a combination of anger, temper, frustration and illness and you resolved to kill her and achieved that purpose."

BGT finalist Molly lends a hand to cake sale

HOME-baked cakes served up by a singing star proved a recipe for success for one charity who raised more the £200 with their delicious treats.

Molly Rainford, a finalist in last year's Britain's Got Talent, joined volunteers from the St Elizabeth's Centre at Perry Green - including her aunt Denise Azevedo - to sell cakes at the Harlow Garden Centre. Denise said: "The cake stall went really well. We raised £237.89 which is fantastic and we're very grateful to the garden centre for letting us do it.

"A huge well done needs to go to all our volunteers who baked the cakes and Molly for spending the day at the stall with me."

St Elizabeth's provides care, support and health and education facilities for vulnerable people who suffer from epilepsy. Denise's son Ben suffers from cerebral palsy with epileptic complications and lives at St Elizabeth's because of his need for round-the-clock specialist care.

"We do a lot for St Elizabeth's because it gives Ben a life," said Denise. "This money will go towards paying for activities and equipment that's needed for the charity to continue."

Parkinson's charity in desperate appeal for more volunteers

bianca.castro@hertssexnews.co.uk

A CHARITY which offers support and activities for people suffering from Parkinson's, their families and carers is in desperate need of new volunteers to help keep the service running smoothly.

The Harlow branch of Parkinson's UK is looking for two drivers who can spare some time to take the group to their regular meetings at the Livingstone Club in Potter Street, as well as volunteers to help with support activities and make sandwich lunches for the group's members.

Chairman Patrick Martin said: "We are appealing for volunteers, especially volunteer drivers who are very important in helping some of our members, one who is in a wheelchair for example, and another who cannot walk, in getting to the activities and the meetings that we put on."

"Our previous driver who was fantastic cannot continue due to doctor's orders and we really need someone to take his place. Two drivers who could spare some time to drive the mini-bus - that would be ideal for us."

The 74-year-old, who helps run the charity with his wife, added: "We have a Wednesday Club which meets every week where they have lunch, like sandwiches and cake which we have some volunteers do who are all past retirement age and it would be great to get more volunteers to help out."

"We do games and have guest speakers as well as Christmas parties and things

- we do as much as we can to keep them happy."

"Sometimes we can have up to 40 people in attendance and not all of them have Parkinson's. Sometimes it can be a family member whose wife or husband has died but they have made friends and it helps them to keep coming as everyone shares their stories. Everyone is welcome."

To volunteer, or for more information, call Corrine Hall on 07982 094194.

Pedal power for teen cancer trust

KEEN cyclists are urged to join a 69 mile trek from Harlow to Oxford to raise funds for the Teenage Cancer Trust.

The H2O ride, which will start on Friday June 21 at 9am from the Merial offices in Harlow Business Park, is water-themed with participants asked to 'pimp' their bikes and take inspiration from water-based films, songs and cartoons.

Organisers are hoping to beat last year's total of over £100,000 for the Teenage Cancer Trust.

Registration costs £25 for each rider and covers entry, support before the event, return travel from Oxford and a celebratory BBQ.

For more information, or to enter, visit www.sanofi-inspires.co.uk/H2O-challenge.

ECC donates PCs to local charities

THREE Harlow groups will be receiving computers from Essex County Council under the new Information Services Modernisation Programme.

The project will see the council donate computers they no longer need to charities and organisations, after the machines have been cleaned of all data and charity licensed software is loaded onto the PC.

The 1st Kingsmoor Scout Group, the 7th Harlow Scout Group and the West Essex Alcohol and Drugs Service will all benefit from the county council's technological donations.

Thanks a million for all your help

ST Clare Hospice's 526 volunteers are worth more than £1.3m a year to the charity, according to figures released by the Hospice.

Volunteers at St Clare take on various roles including manning the Hospice reception, retail and supporting the therapy and inpatient units and the hospice's fundraising events.

Chris Crump, the Hospice's voluntary services manager, said: "As a very busy hospice service it would be impossible for us to function without the dedication and support of our volunteers. "Without this collaboration we would be unable to sustain our services or develop the high level of care we offer patients, their families and carers. Throughout the year St Clare Hospice volunteers have given 100,000+ hours of their time, a wage equivalent of more than £1.3m!"

Lottery winners

THE winner of the £1,000 first prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, April 12 was ticketholder 601439, who lives in North Weald.

Man beaten and robbed in attack

A MAN was robbed of his mobile phone and £70 in cash after being attacked by a gang of five men.

Detectives are appealing for witnesses after the 30-year-old victim was confronted by the group in Old House Croft at around 10pm on Sunday, May 26. It is believed they followed him from Harlow Town Park.

Police have issued descriptions of three of the suspects and are appealing for witnesses to the robbery.

The first is described as black, 5ft 6ins tall, of stocky build and aged between 19 and 20. He had a dark "afro" haircut and was wearing a hooded top. The second man was black, 6ft tall, aged 21 with sideburns and short dark hair. The third was white, 5ft 6in tall, aged 19-20, of chubby build and was wearing a blue cap with a yellow peak.

Detective Constable Mike Ferguson of Harlow CID said: "The men were first seen at Harlow Town Park and they followed the victim from there."

"They asked him for his mobile phone and when he said no they pushed him over, punched and kicked him before taking his property and leaving the scene."

The victim suffered cuts and bruises to his knees and elbows during the attack.

Anyone with information should call Harlow CID on 101 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Thieves ransack home in burglary

POLICE are appealing for information following a burglary in Harlow over the weekend.

The front door of a house in Orchard Croft was forced open between 5pm and 5.20pm on Saturday (June 8) causing the glass in the door to smash.

A messy search of the house was made and it is not yet known what was stolen.

Officers want to speak to a group of people who were seen in a black Audi A3 which was seen nearby at the time of the burglary.

Anyone with information is urged to contact Harlow CID on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

RECOVERING: Paul Whiston with Millie, who was shot with an air rifle while the pair were out walking

RSPCA probe air gun attack on dog

THE RSPCA has launched an investigation after a pet dog was shot with an air rifle while out on a walk with its owner in Harlow.

Paul Whiston's nine-year-old Jack Russell Millie was so badly injured in the attack near Greenhills last Saturday (June 1) that vets were forced to remove one of her kidneys.

Mr Whiston told the Star: "I took Millie to the top of our road and though it wasn't the usual time as normally I take her out before work, I didn't see anything unusual. Millie was sticking her head in the bushes and all of a sudden I heard a whooshing sound and Millie howling - there was blood everywhere."

"My wife was actually driving in the opposite direction at the time and didn't see anyone either. We rushed Millie to the bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

vets, where they had to remove her kidney.

"It was horrible. She is such a great dog - we've had her since she was a puppy."

Vets found the air gun pellet had gone straight through one of Millie's kidneys, which was so badly damaged it had to be removed.

Mr Whiston contacted the police following the incident, but told the Star he was disappointed at the force's response.

"I am very supportive of the police but I don't feel like they've done enough," he said.

A spokesperson for Essex Police confirmed they were investigating.

He said: "No one was seen in the area at the time. Officers have conducted enquiries to trace the person or people involved including house-to-house enquiries and a search of the area.

"The continued investigation has been handed to PC Tim Knights, who works in that area and will have more chance of finding the culprits. This is an offence, and a dangerous incident, and we are taking it very seriously."

The RSPCA have also appealed for information after launching their own probe into the incident.

Inspector Stephen Reeves told the Star: "This was a senseless and deliberate act of cruelty upon a defenceless animal."

Anyone with any information is urged to contact the RSPCA on 0300 123 8018 or Harlow CID on 101.

Police hunt man who tried to grab schoolgirl

POLICE are appealing for witnesses after a man tried to grab a Harlow schoolgirl in an apparent abduction attempt.

The incident happened between 6.15pm and 6.45pm last Tuesday (June 4) as the victim walked along Mowbray Road.

Shewas approached by the suspect, who spoke to her before grabbing at her schoolbag.

The girl managed to elude his grasp before running off.

The suspect is described as a bald white man in his late twenties. He was wearing a grey Nike t-shirt and blue denim jeans.

Anyone with information should contact police on 101 or Crimestoppers, on 0800 555 111.

New penalties for anti-social behaviour are more effective

SIR, In response to your report about the Government's approach to anti-social behaviour, I thought it was worth setting the record straight.

The Government has recognised that we need a tougher approach to anti-social behaviour, yet they implied that we are simply abolishing ASBOs. This is not the case - a more effective replacement will be introduced instead.

The report referred to high crime figures. It is worth noting that the total number of criminal offences in Harlow fell by three per cent from 2010/11, and a further three per cent in 2011/12. Nationally, reports of violence, robbery, vehicle theft, fraud, criminal damage and drug use have all fallen since 2010.

Reports of anti-social behaviour have fallen quicker in the past three years than in the previous 11 years under Labour.

Despite good intentions, ASBOs were not as effective as they should, or could, have been. In 2011 four out of 10 of all ASBOs issued were breached in their first year. Furthermore, the number of ASBOs issued since 2005 has dropped by three-quarters to just over 1,400 in 2011.

Indeed, many ASBO holders saw them as a badge of honour. Who will forget the Panorama documentary where someone who had two ASBOs proudly proclaimed that ASBOs didn't work and boasted that he would be "back inside within a week"?

They were also bureaucratic, and as an MP I have seen at first hand how difficult it was to serve them on nuisance neighbours.

The Government is not getting rid of anti-social behaviour penalties but making them stronger. The new legislation has two tough measures; the first - an Injunction to Prevent Nuisance and Annoyance and a Criminal Behaviour Order.

The first will be easier to obtain than ASBOs, as it will view a wider range of offences as anti-social behaviour such as causing nuisance to a person as well as harassment, alarm or distress. IPNAs will be able to impose positive requirements on how people behave, as well as prohibitions.

The second penalty replaces the current ASBO with a conviction known as the CRASBO. Breaching one of these will mean some serious criminal sentencing and also requires good behaviour. Moreover, to stop the 'badge of honour' issue, the court will have to show that it will prevent anti-social behaviour, rather than serving as a badge of honour.

The service I get from binmen is first class

SIR, After reading the letter last week about the binmen, I could not believe it.

I have lived in Old Harlow for 14 years and have never had a better service from the binmen. We have lived in many parts of the country but the service I get is great.

They have never in 14 years missed my bin and if it's not on the edge of the path they will always collect it.

Needless to say I will always give them a Christmas box and if my bin is full and overflowing I will give them a tip. After all, they come in all weathers; how many people want to pick up other people's rubbish?

Well done to all my binmen and thank you.

No need to change system of collection

SIR, Harlow Council's provisions for domestic waste collection are excellent.

Requiring waste collectors to enter people's property in order to collect bins would add considerably to the cost of the service and the amount of time needed to carry it out.

In the current economic situation the community has higher priorities.

Traffic flow is not a reason to reject Aldi

SIR, Can I just say what a lot of nonsense and unnecessary delay in accepting the proposal of the new Aldi Store?

Let's hope they will not be refused by Harlow Council again, on the grounds of traffic flow problems. How on earth did the former Kennings garage manage for all those years when it was a petrol station?

No problem at all.

SIR, I would like to thank the Companion Care vets at the Pets At Home store in Harlow.

I had a 15-year-old terrier, Buster, who became ill and it was clear his time was up. I went to see the vets and asked them to put him to sleep.

They came to my flat to do this. My wife, who is disabled, held Buster in his basket while they put him to sleep and then carried him out in their arms. He was taken to the pet crematorium so I could keep his ashes at home.

They were very good with Buster, so thank you.

SIR, It is not often Harlow Council is praised but I would like to thank the man who took my call to the repairs department and arranged for someone to get to me within one hour when I snapped a key in my balcony door lock.

Nikki G: My heart goes out to the families of Claire Parrish and Eystna Blunnie. As a victim in the past of domestic violence I know how you can get led into situations that you normally would not let yourself get into. I never thought I would be the sort of person to ever be a victim. It's not a choice, it creeps up on you with the man you love and trust and it happens slowly and then you feel like there is no escape. But there is. It's frightening to get away but it's more frightening to stay. I hope that many young women out there will realise there is an escape and you can get away. It's not easy but it's safe and you can rebuild your lives

THRILLED: Harlow Chocolate Run chairman Mick Granger and vice chair Jo Busson show off some of the donated clothes

Debenhams boost for homeless group

A HOMELESS charity has received a huge donation of clothes from high street retailer Debenhams after the firm's Chief Executive offered to help the group.

A member of Harlow Chocolate Run's committee was able to secure the bumper clothes delivery - which will be distributed among the town's homeless - through contacts who know the Debenhams boss. Charity chairman Mick Granger told the Star he was delighted with the donation. "It's absolutely brilliant, and we are so grateful to Michael Sharp for donating so many top-quality clothes to us.

"He is also the Chocolate Run's patron and we are extremely happy with all of his support and generous donations."

The charity will be holding the first of its new weekly Chocolate Run drop-in sessions at the GPCA Playbarn on Abercrombie Way on June 16.

New investment boost for Enterprise Zone

A PROJECT designed to expedite the development of Harlow's Enterprise Zone has taken a step closer to securing Government funding after making it through the first stage of the approval process.

Back in February 2013, Whitehall invited Enterprise Zones across the UK to apply for a share of £59m of investment so key infrastructure projects can be completed quicker.

Led by Harlow Council and Essex County Council, Enterprise West Essex@ Harlow bid for £12.75m to fund the development of a new Life Sciences Medtech Innovation Centre - and this week the proposal was selected to enter a due diligence process to ensure deliverability and "value for money".

If approved, the high-tech centre will be built alongside the existing Nortel Campus on the London Road side of the Enterprise Zone site.

Harlow Council Leader Mark Wilkinson, pictured right, told the Star: "It is very encouraging that the need for Government investment in the Enterprise Zone has been recognised to ensure that the potential they represent to improve the pace of economic recovery can be fulfilled quickly.

"We believe that Government

investment, if approved, will support the Harlow Enterprise Zone being able to encourage investment from the private sector and create the jobs that are much needed here in Harlow.

He added: "In these hard financial times it is right that there is focused public sector investment to ensure that businesses can develop and succeed. Harlow offers an excellent location for business investment in close proximity to London, Cambridge and Stansted Airport and with the right infrastructure this town can play a growing part in the national economic recovery."

The investment could also support enabling infrastructure and site preparation works at London Road to pave the way for 22,000 square metres of high-grade office space.

Councillor Tony Durcan, Harlow Council's cabinet portfolio holder for Resources and Enterprise, said: "If approved, this much needed funding will come at a crucial time in the development of the Enterprise Zone at London Road.

"We have two Local Development Orders (LDOs) in place for the London Road site, which simplify the planning process for new businesses and we are currently carrying out public consultation on the LDO for Templefields North East.

"Funding is essential to deliver the potential of the EZ and to accelerate the progress that has already been made by the Council and its partners. Without it the partners will not be able to deliver what we all want to achieve."

Split between sites in Templefields and London Road, Harlow's 51-hectare Enterprise Zone will focus on businesses from the Health and Allied Industries, Advanced Manufacturing and Information Communication Technology sectors.

Its backers believe it will ultimately have the capacity to create up to 5,000 new jobs across the site.

For more information on the plans, visit: www.harlow.gov.uk/enterprise-zone.

Mum's fury at 'lenient' sentence for ice-cream man who punched son

A MUM has been left "disappointed, angry and frustrated" after the Harlow ice cream man who punched her son only had to pay him £50 compensation - and continues to trade outside her home.

Ice cream seller Ignazio Militello (65) of Little Cattins, Harlow, pleaded guilty to striking a 16-year-old boy on High Street, Buntingford, on Thursday May 2 following an altercation.

Police seized the ice cream van after arresting and charging Militello.

Officers were looking at putting in an application to the Crown Prosecution Service to destroy the vehicle and spoke to East Herts Council about Militello's trader permit.

However, they failed to get an application to destroy his vehicle before the courts.

And because Buntingford is the only town in East Herts that does not require a licence for street traders to trade, Militello is free to continue to ply his trade in Buntingford.

At Stevenage Magistrates' Court on Friday May 24, Militello was fined £200, and made to pay £50 to his victim, with £105 costs.

But the victim's mum this week blasted the "lenient" sentence.

"I'm really frustrated - it is not enough," she told the Star.

"He's continuing to do his rounds around here.

"It's a loophole in the law that he is still allowed to be trading here.

"My son's upset about it and when he's out and about in the town he's always looking over his shoulder.

She added: "While Militello was on bail he couldn't come here so it was OK but now he's here all the time.

"He drives past the house. You can't stop him and I can't get my head around that."

Everyone's at awards

ON a night to celebrate the voluntary groups working to improve the lives of people in their communities throughout West Essex and East Herts there were no losers - only winners.

Representatives of 26 organisations were invited to a presentation ceremony to find out if they were one of the lucky winners in the Cash For The Community Awards run by local funeral directors Daniel Robinson & Sons. More than 200 nominations were received for the awards - supported by the Star, the Herts & Essex Observer and Central Essex Community Services - which marked the culmination of celebrations to mark the funeral firm's 120th anniversary.

The entries were split into four area categories - Harlow, Bishop's Stortford, Epping & Loughton and Sawbridgeworth & Great Dunmow. A panel of judges whittled down the initial applications to 24 finalists with two winners and four highly commended for each area.

In addition, two of the nominees were chosen to receive special awards. The winners were kept secret until the awards ceremony at Rhodes last Tuesday when, in front of an audience which included local dignitaries, Phil Barrow, funeral manager of Daniel Robinson & Sons, announced the results.

The category winners were then invited up on stage where they were presented with framed certificates and cheques for £1,000 by host presenter Helen McDermott, the face of Anglia TV News for more than 20 years and now a reporter for the BBC's Inside Out programme.

But then, in a surprise twist, all the highly commended groups also received scrolls and cheques for £250.

And as the evening drew to close there was one more surprise left - the announcement of two special awards of £1,500 which went to the St Margaret's Breast Care Support Group and Bishop's Stortford First Responders.

Afterwards, Gary Neill, managing director of Daniel Robinson & Sons, said: "What a truly humbling, and at times moving, evening it was, particularly when we heard first hand from the award winners themselves about the fantastic work they do for us all in the community and how the award money will be spent".

"Our grateful thanks go to our awards partners - the Star, Herts & Essex Observer, Central Essex Community Services - and everyone involved in making the evening a success.

"Above all we would like to thank all of the finalists for joining us and making the finale of our 120 year celebrations so special."

Charity week for Ava's Pink Quest

KIDDI CARU DAY NURSERY

Youngsters welcomed a new friend to their class with a week of fundraising events to boost funds for Ava's Pink Quest, a charity raising money for childhood cancer.

Ava McCarthy, who was diagnosed with kidney cancer when she was just two-years-old, has recently joined the nursery - and her story inspired staff to organise the charity week.

Youngsters took part in a black and pink dress-up day, a bake sale, Teddy Bear's picnic and fancy dress as well as a bacon butty parents' morning.

A fun day on Saturday will see the week come to an end with a bouncy castle, face painting, disco and Father's Day creativity stall where children will be able to make something special for dad.

Nursery Manager Laura Evans said: "Ava's family does a lot of fundraising for the Children's Cancer & Leukaemia Group and we wanted to do our bit to help."

Kiddi Caru's Fun Day in aid of Ava's Pink Quest takes place at the nursery in Kiln Lane this Saturday from 10am to 2pm.

Students go gaga for radio relaunch

BURNT MILL ACADEMY Proactive pupils at the First Avenue School have taken to the airwaves to relaunch the school's radio station - and have big plans for it in the pipeline.

Radio Piccadilly was stopped three years ago after split lunch breaks made it difficult to run, but the new student senior leadership team made it one of their first goals to get the station up and running again.

Students wired in new speaker systems throughout the school, set up brand new iMac studio equipment and lined up guests for the new shows within just two weeks.

Teacher Adam Smith said: "We have got some really passionate students who were keen to see Radio Piccadilly relaunched as soon as possible. It's a completely student-focused project.

"The pupils have set everything up and got a schedule of what they are playing and what interviews they are including in their shows. Not only does it enable them to play music at lunchtime, it is also a way for information to be communicated to students.

"Most of the students involved are interested in media studies, so this is a way of getting involved in something they might look to do in the future."

Head boy Daniel Boulton, who is in Year 10, added: "I study media and music so this is a great opportunity for me.

"We have put together a timetable for the shows and hope to include some students playing acoustically at some point."

School rewarded for international focus

HOLY CROSS PRIMARY CATHOLIC ACADEMY

Keen geographers had cause to celebrate at Holy Cross as the school was awarded the prestigious Full International School Award in recognition of their work to open students' eyes to the wider world.

Youngsters at the Traces Road primary have taken part in various topics in partnership with other schools from across the globe, including an Olympic project last summer which saw Games mascots Wenlock and Mandeville travel across Europe.

The youngsters were able to keep up-to-date on the mascots' journey using video links and photo updates.

The International School Award is a British Council-run accreditation scheme which rewards schools whose pupils have taken social action to tackle global issues. International Coordinator Emma Beckwith said: "This is a fantastic achievement and a celebration of the international work that is carried out in the school each year."

All aboard for advice on university life

HARLOW COLLEGE Pupils keen to find out more about higher education, the application process and university life were in for a treat when the Anglia Ruskin University roadshow rolled into town.

Climbing aboard the university's bright purple bus, which will be travelling up and down the country up until October, students were offered advice, guidance and support on how to apply to university - and the financial implications of pursuing further education.

Rachel Cole, outreach & recruitment officer at Anglia Ruskin, told the Star: "Our visit to Harlow has been really productive and we've had around 50 people come in to find out more about university.

"We had a big group of Health & Social Services students who came in and we sat down and discussed potential courses they could do within the areas they wanted.

"I had a lot of students ask me about finances, and a few people who had courses or areas of interest in mind but weren't sure how to start looking."

She added: "Although the bus belongs to Anglia Ruskin, the role of this road show is to get students informed about university, what can be studied, where it can be studied and the costs of higher education and what their best options are - that doesn't have to be Anglia Ruskin so it's a great point of information.

"University is a big choice and having as much information as possible is very useful - that's what the bus is for. Anyone can come and talk to us and make sure they have the answers they need."

Mobile movie bus transports shoppers back to New Town

SHOPPERS were taken on a trip down memory lane when a 1960s mobile cinema rolled into Market Square.

The Archive Alive tour, which stopped off in 17 towns across Essex, offered shoppers free viewings of fascinating archive footage of Harlow filmed when the New Town was in the early throes of its development.

Community Manager Lindsey Roffe said: "The morning went really well and everyone seems to have enjoyed seeing their town in days-gone-by."

"It's been really popular here and in the other two towns before Harlow."

The tour was organised to promote Archive Alive's new website, where internet users can view hundreds of clips taken from the organisation's vast archive of film footage.

"This tour is just to give people a flavour of the films that anyone will be able to see on our website," Ms Roffe explained.

"Archived footage is fantastic because it's a great way to reminisce and remember the past."

"All the feedback has been really good so far."

She added: "The mobile cinema was actually in France last week and the feedback there was great too."

"We partnered with a group in Upper Normandy to compare life in France and life in Britain throughout time."

Urban games roll into skate park

HUNDREDS of thrill-seekers will descend on Harlow Council's state-of-the-art skate park next Saturday to take part in the SX Urban Games.

The annual event, organised by Harlow Council's Leisure Team in partnership with ECC, Sport England, Essex Legacy and Active Essex, will run from 11am to 4pm and at least 1,000 people are expected to turn up on the day.

Activities will include BMX, scooter and skate jams and mountain bike trials as well as Cycle Harlow BMX ramps, live DJ sets and the Essex Youth Bus. Harlow Youth Council, which helped have the skate park installed, will host a refreshments stall while health trainers from Anglian Community Enterprise will also be on hand to offer help and support.

Ask Sal for help in tackling abuse

ESSEX County Council has joined forces with West Essex clinical commissioning group to relaunch a service helping to tackle the abuse of vulnerable adults.

Callers can use the AskSAL helpline to report abuse or neglect and seek advice on how to protect elderly and vulnerable people.

Sheona Siewertsen of WECCG said: "AskSAL can be rang for information and advice about the safety of vulnerable adults in Essex."

"It can also be used to disclose a specific concern about your own safety or that of someone you know. AskSAL will take your concern seriously and ensure it is investigated appropriately."

Saddle up and enjoy the ride as national bike week returns

HARLOW residents are being urged to get on their bikes and explore the great outdoors when National Bike Week rolls back into town on Saturday.

Aiming to raise awareness of the health, financial and environmental benefits associated with cycling, the nationwide initiative runs from June 15-23 - and, according to Cycle Harlow vice-chair John Curry, there are few towns better equipped than Harlow to cater for both seasoned riders and relative newcomers.

"Harlow is a fantastic place to get out and explore by bike," John, pictured below left, told the Star.

"You can pretty much get around the whole town without leaving the cycle paths - we're living somewhere that was designed for bikes."

But despite his enthusiasm for cycling - he is also secretary of the Stort Valley Cycle Touring Club and regularly volunteers at cyclists' Mecca the Hub + Spoke in Bush Fair - John is well aware of the difficulty in convincing people to leave the car at home.

"Driving and what type of car you own has become something of a status symbol in our society," he said.

"It means that people are often reluctant to leave the car at home, even for a short trip to the local shops."

"But the great thing about National Bike Week is that it offers

CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

people of all abilities the opportunity to reacquire themselves with riding a bike, and once people rediscover the thrill and freedom of cycling, it's often enough to convince them to make those small changes to their daily routine that can make all the difference to their health and wellbeing."

It's a sentiment shared by Chris Lewis-Smith, operations manager at Hub + Spoke, who recalled the "road to Damascus moment" which convinced him to swap his car for two-wheels.

"I was sitting in traffic one morning on my way to work and I kept seeing these guys whizz past me on their bikes."

"I said to myself, 'why don't I try that?', and I've never looked back."

"I take my bike most places these days, and the freedom and sense of wellbeing it gives you is incredible."

"Not only are you doing your bit for the environment, you're doing wonders for your heart, lungs and overall health - and your not having to fork out for petrol."

Starting with a Parkinson's charity ride on Saturday, the town will host a packed programme of led rides throughout National Bike Week.

Both Chris and John will be involved - and stressed that most routes were suitable for riders of any ability.

"Of course you've got the die-hard, lycra-clad riders involved in the 'sportive' side of cycling, but we want to promote the fact that cycling can and should be for everyone," John explained.

"With a facility like the Hub + Spoke in Bush Fair, where people can now hire bikes for free and get help and advice on how to buy, maintain and use their own bikes, and a huge network of cycle paths, Harlow is the perfect place to cultivate a love of cycling."

IMAGINE having the power to control objects using only your thoughts.

It may sound like the stuff of science fiction novels, but scientists in America have successfully developed a prototype helicopter which can be controlled entirely by the power of the user's mind.

The controller wears a special cap which sends electric currents from their brain to a computer, which then beams the commands to the device.

It's hoped the technology could one day be developed to help people with mobility problems.

The helicopter uses an electronic system that can be 'trained' to recognise patterns in a map of electrical activity.

Users' thoughts are then matched up with the motions of the helicopter.

So if a user thinks they want to clench their left fist - the helicopter then moves to the left.

This process can be repeated with other thoughts so the helicopter can move in other directions.

The process has already been used by European researchers to make a wheelchair that can be steered by brainpower.

Best of business on show at expo

THIS year's Harlow Business Exhibition has been hailed as "the best networking event in the East of England" after pulling in crowds of more than 600 people on Tuesday.

Back for the fourth-year running, the Star-sponsored event took place at Harlow Leisurezone and saw more than 130 local firms set up stall to promote their business.

Featuring a packed programme of informative business seminars - including a keynote address from Sawbridgeworth-based Masterchef semi-finalist Saira Hamilton (pictured top left) - dazzling live entertainment from local schools and performing arts groups and plenty of opportunities for exhibitors and delegates to network, this year's expo was the biggest yet.

Officially opened by Harlow MP Rob Halfon at 10am, the show was a hive of activity until its close at 4pm, with solicitors, accountants, recruitment consultants and financial advisers rubbing shoulders with IT professionals, charity workers, car dealers and property developers.

Exhibition co-director Mick Granger, pictured below with Mr Halfon and co-organisers Khaled Khan and Ian Hudson, told the Star he had been "blown away" by the turnout at Tuesday's event.

"I was there all day, and it was absolutely clear that a lot of people did a lot of business over the course of the event," he said.

"The feedback we had from visitors and exhibitors alike was very positive, and everyone was impressed by the sheer range of businesses represented at the event.

"I'd like to say a big thank you to all our sponsors, exhibitors and visitors - roll on next year!"

Harlow MP Rob Halfon said the event was a "fitting tribute" to the town's entrepreneurial prowess.

"I said last year that the exhibition was the biggest in the region - this year's event proved it is now also the best," he said.

"It was an incredible event and showed exactly why Harlow has been recognised as the number one town for business growth in the UK."

£100m investment will improve Harlow's housing stock

Last month we unveiled a £100m five-year programme to modernise council homes.

Around a third of housing in Harlow is council-owned and in the next year we plan to make improvements to more than 4,000 properties. This programme is being funded by rents which we can now reinvest into tenants' homes.

Improvements like making homes warmer, updating kitchens and bathrooms and replacing old windows and doors will all help provide better housing in Harlow. You can find out more at www.harlow.gov.uk.

COUNCIL MATTERS

By Harlow Council leader Mark Wilkinson

Developments on a lower scale continue to be built across the town. I'm pleased to see that work is under way to build new homes at Carters Mead and Clifton Hatch.

These developments, which are part of wider plans to renew local neighbourhoods, will provide brand new houses and flats including 21 homes for local people on Harlow's housing register – a good example of what we are doing now to provide more housing and renew Harlow.

Plans have also been agreed for new homes on sites at the Wissants and Fishers Hatch. When built all eleven houses will be allocated to people on the housing register.

The council is stepping up its campaign for a new M11 junction 7A. Traffic congestion is a major frustration for residents and businesses; a new junction in the right place and with the right connection to the town would reduce congestion and support Harlow's regeneration.

We continue, with the support of partners, to make the case to Government for Harlow to get the investment it needs.

As well as putting plans in place to improve Harlow, the council also runs services on a day-to-day basis which are funded through Government grants, council tax and income that we raise.

I have often spoken about the difficult financial choices the council has to make and unfortunately these challenges are not going to go away. Due to further planned reductions in Government grants I know that we are going to have to make more difficult decisions next year.

Therefore, it is important that we talk to residents and get their views. In the coming months we will be giving people the opportunity to have a say. We will be asking residents what choices they would make.

As residents will have seen in the news, all public sector organisations are being asked to make big cuts in their expenditure. The council is no different.

There will be difficult choices to be made but I am committed to listening to what residents say as the council plans ahead for next year.

Under-fire ambulance trust 'not listening to its staff'

BOSSES at an ambulance trust that has consistently failed to meet crucial response time targets have been slammed for failing to listen to staff.

The East of England Ambulance Service NHS Trust has faced criticism for failing to get to patients in a timely fashion, hospital hand-over delays and poor staffing levels over the past 18 to 24 months.

A new report into the service said that the trust was "suffering with substandard operational performance" and has recommended that managers act "urgently" to restore the achievement of response time targets and get new paramedics into the organisation as "soon as possible".

In April, the trust admitted that it was not delivering its 999 service "well enough", saying that it was letting both "patients and staff down".

In 2012-13, one in four patients were not reached within the eight-minute target time.

During 2012-13 the trust also failed to meet the 20-minute target for serious but non-life threatening calls, known as green calls.

The latest report, conducted by Dr Anthony Marsh on behalf of the NHS Trust Development Authority, said that for green calls some senior people at the trust "don't even know what the targets are, let alone how the trust performs against them".

Dr Marsh, who is chief executive of West Midlands Ambulance Service NHS Foundation Trust, wrote: "There is a feeling across the organisation that the trust board does not listen and that leadership does not come from board level."

"This can be evidenced in the fact that the board has only recently accepted that there is a shortage of frontline ambulance crews within the trust yet managers state they have been raising this for some time."

He added that there was a "lack of accountability" at the trust, which has led to "critical decision-making ceasing in some areas".

Dr Marsh made 25 recommendations, including an urgent recruitment drive.

Dr Geoff Harris, the trust's new chairman, said: "One of the first tasks will be for me, with the board, to review the findings of this report and submit a formal response."

Riotous romp is whip-smart comedy gold

AWARD-WINNING theatre company Global Productions bring their razor-sharp adaptation of Noel Coward's classic comedy Present Laughter to The Playhouse Studio tonight (Thursday).

Rumoured to be semi-autobiographical, the play follows the trials and tribulations of caddish matinee idol Gary Essendine (played by Richard Holliss) - a hugely talented performer whose easy charm masks inward fears over his ambitions, advancing years and treatment at the hands of the critics.

While preparing for a theatrical tour of Africa, his flirtations with scheming man-eater Joanna and starry-eyed debutante Daphne invokes the sudden return of his ex-wife Liz, the exasperation of long-serving secretary Monica and the outrage of business associates, Morris and Henry.

The mayhem is then compounded by the appearance of dangerously unpredictable playwright Roland Maulee - who also happens to be Gary's number one fan.

• Present Laughter runs at The Playhouse Studio until tomorrow (Friday). Shows start at 7.45pm and tickets cost £14-£15.50 from (01279) 431945.

Bunker project to 'open up' civic gallery

CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A PROVOCATIVE new art installation incorporating full-scale reconstructions of World War II bunkers will challenge perceptions of community, memory and identity when it is unveiled at The Gibberd Gallery next week.

The brainchild of artist Nick Turvey - whose striking sculpture 'Methuselah' sits at the entrance to Harlow's Newhall development - All Alone Together aims to showcase the gallery as a place of "meeting and action".

It consists of three small constructions based on designs for air-raid shelters used in the Second World War, with an accompanying display of Turvey's recent prints.

Each of the structures - which have been built by gallery volunteers and youngsters on a youth offending project under the supervision of the artist himself - will be used as "micro-theatres", available for use by community groups, musicians, choirs, artists, scouts, prayer groups and even as a location for council meetings.

The artist explained: "Although the work draws on the World War II origins of Harlow, the bunkers are more studies in psychology than historical recreation - spaces that make one very aware of the constraints of one's body, the borders of the self, and the barriers that we erect."

By inviting various community groups to use the bunkers as a space to meet, perform or just chat, Turvey hopes to subvert the meaning of a structure traditionally associated with conflict and defence.

"I'm interested in objects as a way of activating social space rather than just something to look at," he added.

"They are like micro-theatres for encounter, creating an opportunity to invert their original meaning. And I've given a lot of attention to smell, because of how that affects people on a pre-conscious level."

The gallery is now inviting proposals for use of the structures from local community groups and individuals.

There will also be a series of thematically-linked lunchtime talks every Saturday throughout the exhibition, which runs until August 23. • For more information, or to book one of the bunkers, log on to www.gibberdgallery.co.uk or call 01279 446404.

Terry dazzles with brilliantly bonkers set

AS soon as Terry Alderton waltzed onto the stage at Harlow Playhouse, dressed in odd socks, a denim waistcoat and a dodgy wig, it was clear that his new tour was going to be just as bonkers as ever.

What ensued was just that - a hilarious, hyperactive and often confusing show which incorporated 'talking' shoes, self-heckling and even a spot of ironing.

The first half of the Season 4 show kicked off with an appearance from 'The Johns'.

With Essex-born Terry dressed like a dodgy 90s boy band member and his cuddly co-star accompanying on keyboard, the pair prepared the appreciative crowd for the madness that was about to come their way.

Back in his more familiar guise for part two, Terry certainly didn't disappoint.

The 'voices in his head' routine was present once again and still as fresh, clever and inventive as ever.

Even jokes tested during his special show preview at The Half Moon, in Bishop's Stortford, back in December were just as funny the second time round thanks to Terry's impeccable delivery.

Uncanny impressions of Lee Evans, Formula One cars and a deflating balloon were spot on and his random tangents about monkeys left you in fits of giggles without even really knowing what you were laughing about.

Several audience members were spared little embarrassment but the biggest surprise was for a couple who left half way through the routine, prompting Terry to leap off stage and follow them out of the auditorium.

On his return he plonked himself in the audience and began a fantastic self-heckling routine which went down a storm with the Harlow crowd.

Another big highlight was a dialogue between his shoes. Once again it was hard to process exactly what was going on at this point but you couldn't help but burst out laughing. Terry's ability to unleash total and utter, seemingly improvised, madness yet still have complete control is astounding and one of his biggest appeals.

Alderton is a comedian that just keeps on getting better. Roll on Season 5...

GARDENING & PUZZLES

Colours are clues

ARE you a person who goes for hot reds and acid yellows or do you prefer a softer palette of pinks, creams and soft blues?

The colours you choose for your garden can affect how you feel – and it seems gardeners must be getting it right, as new research from BBC Gardeners' World magazine shows that gardeners generally are a happier bunch than non-gardeners.

Colour psychologist Angela Wright, author of The Beginner's Guide To Colour Psychology (Kyle Cathie, £12.99), reports: "Different colours affect us in different ways. Red is physically stimulating. It raises our pulse rate and makes us over-estimate the temperature around us, as well as the speed at which time is passing – one reason why red is such a predominant colour in fast-food restaurants."

She adds that what defines whether a colour such as blue is calming or stimulating is the saturation of colour. Strong, bright blues stimulate, while pale blues soothe.

Yellow is a positive colour that lifts our spirits and promotes great optimism.

"The right yellow makes us feel happy and is the most brilliant of the primary

by Hannah Stephenson

hues, because it's full of light energy," says Wright.

Green helps to restore us, while the other two main colours in the colour wheel have qualities of their adjacent primary colours – orange bringing together the warmth of red and the optimism of yellow, while mauve is unusual in that it combines the fieriness of red and the coolness of blue.

The survey shows that that 64% of people like cool flower colours while 36% prefer hot colours.

Wright believes it's possible to work out your preferred palette by analysing your personality.

Those who are cool and calm by nature, who prefer understated elegance and have a natural gift for keeping things in proportion, are more likely to favour a garden palette of soft pinks, mauves, purples and pale blues.

People with intense energy, with a bossy nature and natural driving force, are more likely to go for rich golds, reds, oranges and warm purples, while creative and energetic types, who love perfection and whose energy is contained, should favour white, tints of pale blue and green with occasional rich dark contrasts.

And those who are in their element in the garden, trying to bring the outdoors indoors with many indoor plants, are more likely to have an unfussy design of garden, with bright single blooms and simple mid-tone colours of sky blue, yellow and bright green.

"We are all born with a natural instinct for colour. Don't over-think it – follow your instincts," Wright advises.

The full findings of the survey on happiness will be revealed in a special theatre session at Gardeners' World Live at the NEC, Birmingham on Saturday. Full details of BBC Gardeners' World magazine's colour special is featured in the June edition.

A new beginning for the greatest superhero

MAN OF STEEL (3D & 2D)
certificate 12A, 2h23m

NOW that Christopher Nolan has completed his Dark Knight trilogy he puts on his producer's hat for the latest reboot of the Superman franchise which traces the rise of the spandex-clad superhero from birth.

When planet Krypton faces destruction, Jor-El (Russell Crowe) sends his son to Earth in the hope that the child will be spared.

The infant is adopted and raised by farmers Jonathan and Martha Kent (Kevin Costner and Diane Lane), who name the boy Clark and raise him as their own flesh and blood.

From an early age Clark (played by Cooper Timberline and Dylan Sprayberry) realises he is different from the other children in Smallville, Kansas, and when the school bus is involved in a terrible accident he uses his untapped powers to save his classmates.

Jonathan and Martha are worried that friends and neighbours will shun Clark if they knew who and what he really is, so the boy keeps his Kryptonian lineage a secret. But searching for his place in a cruel and unforgiving world, he embarks on a journey of self-discovery, tracked by plucky reporter Lois Lane (Amy Adams).

The arrival on Earth of war-mongering Kryptonian General Zod (Michael Shannon) forces Clark to reveal his heroic alter ego but, just as Jonathan and Martha feared, men in power are terrified by his abilities and view him as the enemy rather than mankind's potential saviour.

BEHIND THE CANDELABRA
certificate 15, 1h58m

Liberace always bowed down at the altar of excess. "Too much of a good thing is wonderful," he famously proclaimed.

No doubt the flamboyant entertainer would have approved of the bouffant hairstyles, outlandish fashions and gaudy decor festooning Steven Soderbergh's handsome biopic.

Based on the autobiography of Liberace's lover Scott Thorson, Behind The Candelabra exposes the tormented showman behind the fur-lined and sequin-bedecked myth. Soderbergh's film traces the men's relationship from a fortuitous first meeting in 1977 to Liberace's deathbed in 1987, when the entertainer attempted to keep his HIV status secret from fans and the press.

Behind The Candelabra opens in a gay bar where Scott Thorson (Matt Damon) meets choreographer Bob Black (Scott Bakula), who takes Scott to Las Vegas to enjoy a sold-out performance by Liberace (Michael Douglas). At Bob's insistence, Scott abandons rural Wisconsin for the bright lights of the big city, where he is taken under Liberace's wing and encouraged to explore his sexuality.

The relationship deepens and Liberace incorporates Scott into his act as an on-stage chauffeur and assistant. Bizarrely, the pianist pays plastic surgeon Dr Jack Startz (Rob Lowe) vast sums to mould his lover into a younger version of himself. But the pressures of fame weigh heavily on Scott and the relationship flounders.

Damon has the less showy and more difficult role and he rises to the occasion magnificently, barely puckering his glossed lips when Liberace glimpses himself on The Johnny Carson Show and caterwauls: "Oh my Christ, I look like my father. In drag!"

The white hot glow of Douglas's performance distracts from the sluggish pacing of the film's final third and the broad sketching of peripheral characters.

However, the glitz and glamour are intoxicating and Soderbergh's film swishes tantalisingly close to Liberace's favourite and over-used superlative: "Fabulous!"

The Skrel unleash hideously deformed creatures which track humans by the scent of fear pheromones. One man, General Cypher Raige (Will Smith) from The Ranger Corps, learns to overcome his fear through a phenomenon called ghosting which allows him to walk among The Ursa undetected, slaughtering the killing machines without mercy. Cypher's son Kitai (Jaden Smith) trains to become a member of The Ranger Corps but his application is rejected, so Cypher's wife Faia (Sophie Okonedo) implores her husband to bond with Kitai during a final mission before retirement. A freak asteroid storm badly damages their spaceship which crashes on Earth. With his father critically ill, Kitai must retrieve a rescue beacon and alert HQ to their dire predicament.

Tracey Waples Property Editor

SOMETIMES a home can start to feel uninspiring, too drab or just plain boring.

As the saying goes, over familiarity can cause contempt and this can apply to homes just as much as with situations or people.

There's nothing wrong with wanting to revitalize the look and feel of your home every now and again and it doesn't have to involve vast expense. There are many simple and affordable options to give your home a fresh look.

A new coat of paint on both the exterior and interior is a good starting point. You can paint a room a totally new colour to change the mood or simply apply the same colour to make things feel brighter and cleaner.

Carpets can get worn, dirty and faded without the homeowner noticing and they can remain in place for years after they should have been replaced. Take a moment to assess the state of the carpets in your home. If they simply need a clean, get it done - you'll be amazed at the difference it can make.

Lighting has a significant and immediate role in altering the mood of a room. Bright lights promote activity while dimmer lights are usually for relaxation. Fluorescent lights are often stimulating and can be great for a study room but probably are not suitable for a bedroom. Take time to evaluate the type of lights and their brightness in the context of the mood they should be providing. Dimmers are a fantastic investment for controlling the brightness.

A new cushion or two can really help when it comes to revitalizing a room's décor. Why not try a colour you wouldn't normally choose and see what a difference it makes?

A few tweaks can make all the difference to changing your home for summer. Home improvements don't always have to involve power tools and a weekend of hard labour!

Alan Howick

More silly moments In my life ..

After far too many years in this industry I still have moments of amusement and some times absolute amazement by what people say and do when buying and selling houses or better worded, their homes!

Common sense just flies out of the window. By some supposedly reasonable people when it comes to simple things like a date to agreeing a moving date!

Recently a lady refused three dates because they did not sit well on her star calendar! So everyone else had to fit in with her, three other families that is, selfish is a mild version of what one couple said about her! And the best so far this year, we have been asked to sell a 17th century thatched cottage on the outskirts of town. In my view, one of the prettiest I have ever been invited to sell and I've seen a few over the years.

The owner told me that someone who was a visitor to our town looked over her front gate recently and complimented on her beautiful home but they were puzzled as to why something so old and pretty was built in front of a block of flats in a new town!

That's true as well ..
Alan

Time for You

Selling your property is easy. Just advertise it on line and wait for the buyers to flock to your door!! If only!

Sadly, too many estate agents rely on this approach, which inevitably results in disappointment. Indeed, in some respects finding the buyer is the easy bit. But, when you think about it, there is far more to moving than simply finding a buyer.

At the refreshingly different estate agency Geoffrey Matthew, we believe in helping you move, and this means going far beyond the service offered by most estate agents. It all starts with the amount of time, commitment and personal accountability which we invest in our valued clients.

We won't simply rush in, measure up, stick pictures of your property in our window and hope for the best. We will take the time and trouble to understand all relevant aspects of your situation and then we will work with you to achieve what you want. This may well be the highest price possible, the fastest sale, the most discreet sale, the right person for your treasured home, or you may simply want to dip your toe in the water and test the market.

Whatever your motivation to market your property, we understand, we're highly flexible, and we're on your side.

Additionally, as we are independent of any corporate influence, we are not here to sell you any associated products, although mortgages and conveyancing services are of course available if you need them, and we're prepared to invest as much time as you require from us.

Why not call us on 01279 444988 and arrange an informal chat. You'll find we take the time to listen.

Bentley's hot Spur

Find 1000s of cars locally

BY MATT JOY

CHINA probably isn't the first place that would spring to mind when choosing a suitable location for the launch of a new, and very important, car.

Out in the sticks, asphalt roads turn to gravel for no apparent reason while in cities such as Beijing, congestion is something that happens all the time. And the driving style can best be described as freeform chaos.

However, this is the new Bentley Flying Spur, a car which will be appearing on wish lists all over the world but particularly in the Far East.

China's new breed of successful people find Bentley's restrained status and luxury are the perfect fit, hence the first examples have hit the streets of Beijing.

Rather than a radical change, the new Flying Spur wisely follows the template set by the original. It's an imposing four-door machine but with more curvature around the hips and greater separation from the Continental GT coupe.

The nose has full-width grilles and at the rear there's a squared-off tail and a smoother flow of the boot lid. The more radical customer might prefer lighter shades but the sensible soul will choose a more sober metallic for the proper Bentley look.

Starting at the back seats rather than

Fact File

Bentley Flying Spur

£140,900

ENGINE: 6.0-litre petrol unit producing 616bhp
TRANSMISSION: 8-speed automatic driving all four wheels
PERFORMANCE: Maximum speed 200mph, 0-62mph 4.6s
ECONOMY: 19.2mpg (combined)
CO₂ RATING: 343g/km

the front, there is the kind of room you would expect from a car in which you might well be driven. It's as cossetting and elegant as you could wish for, while the huge range of wood combinations means you can make it as tasteful or otherwise as you wish.

As well as claiming a reduction in noise by 40 per cent over the old car, heated, ventilated and electrically adjustable seats for all offer an even better back-seat experience.

Bentley has introduced a touchscreen remote that sits by your knees and which glides elegantly forward at the touch of a button so it can be handheld. About the size of a modest mobile phone, you can control the satnav, audio system, rear climate control, sun blinds and even view the speedometer and trip computer. It's a small thing in many ways but it sums up the attention that has been paid to the details - and it really shows.

The fundamentals, of course, are already well in place. The body structure uses aluminium for the bonnet and front wings, a composite rear bootlid and high-strength steels for a better combination of safety and reduced weight.

Overall, the body is four per cent stiffer than before while the whole car is 50kg lighter - Bentley says this would be more but for an increased specification.

Motive power comes from the superb twin turbocharged 6.0-litre W12 already seen in the Continental GT, and here it produces a more than adequate 616bhp. Driving all four wheels through the impressive eight-speed automatic transmission, the Flying Spur is spectacularly fast despite its significant size and weight. The 0-62mph time is dispatched in 4.6 seconds; 0-100mph in less than 10, and the top speed of 200mph surely is enough for anyone.

The Flying Spur doesn't always feel this fast though; driven in full-on chauffeur mode, it will sail along the tarmac as well as any super-luxury car.

A new specification tyre and softer suspension over the old car improve what was already a good ride but separates it further from the more sporty Continental GT.

Those wanting the bigger wheel options will pay a very marginal price in terms of slightly less bump absorption, but unless you make a habit of swerving between potholes the Flying Spur delivers superb comfort.

Of course, that powerhouse under the bonnet offers such prodigious torque that you barely need more than a tiny prod of the accelerator to keep up with the traffic. Press more firmly and you can leave it well and truly behind. Even when giving everything, there's nothing more than a cultured roar from the exhaust as it unrelentingly blasts forward.

The auto gearbox works best when left to its own devices despite the presence of paddles, while the dampers can be firmed up for more demanding driving.

The Flying Spur is inevitably a little more comfort-biased but it is no less capable when pushed through a series of bends. The brakes are immensely strong, the steering is reassuringly accurate and offers decent feel - in other words, it has the ability to hustle along way beyond the demands of most owners.

That sums up the new Flying Spur rather well. The improvements over the old car are in all the key areas yet there's more performance, comfort and specification when there was already plenty. It's hard to see a way in which the Flying Spur could do anything other than deliver a very satisfying experience.

for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Twos remain top despite defeat

HARLOW Town seconds remain top of their division in the Shepherd Neame Essex Cricket League but their lead has shrunk after they lost by four wickets at Benfleet seconds.

A solid 57 from Ricky McKinley helped Town declare on 203 for 9.

Benfleet kept ahead of the run rate and a less than chanceless 85 from Chris Webb helped them to reach the target in the 46th over.

Wade Norcott picked up two wickets late on to give the Townies a little hope but the lower than expected target was picked off with four wickets to spare.

Meanwhile, Harlow Town thirds won by seven wickets at table-toppers Belhus III in division three.

Belhus started shakily and were bowled out in the 44th over for 158.

Daniel Dewey (2-34) and Anthony Heath (3-8) bowled well.

In reply, a 53-run partnership between Bobby Blunt and Karl Seecharan (62) put the Townies on track to allow Oly Souter (24 not out) and skipper John Simpson (26 not out) to see the team home after 32 overs.

Harlow Town IV lost by five wickets against Belhus IV.

Town batted first and cruised to 212 for 7. The returning expectant father Marc Lowers scored his maiden ton (104) and Lee Richardson holed out on 49 to set up the declaration.

In reply, Belhus reached the target in 45 overs for the loss of just five wickets. Harlow Town fifths (143-2) beat Horndon-on-the-Hill (142-7) by seven wickets in the friendly league.

Anthony Gardiner took 3 for 19 in his first game of the season.

Brian Lall (76; 18 fours and four singles) set the team up for victory.

On Sunday, Harlow Tn II 239-6 beat Abridge (238-5) by four wickets.

South African Brendon Maclean hit 71 as the victory was achieved with two balls to spare.

Street triumph in great run chase

AN excellent run chase saw Potter Street & Church Langley clinch a four-wicket home win over High Roding II in division three of the Herts & Essex Cricket League.

Replying to the visitors' score of 253-5, Street lost opener Surath Bastola for 7. Jeff Armstrong and Chandan Katoch (26) steadied the innings.

After Katoch departed, Fahad Huda (84) and Armstrong (78) put on 150 together which effectively settled the outcome.

Both batsmen regularly found the boundary and ran well between the wickets before Street (254-6) passed the target.

Earlier, Roding batted first and their main innings' came from the father and son combination of M. Heywood (71) and S. Heywood (72), who shared a 100-run partnership.

Their innings' came after Roding skipper Richard Silver made 32.

Street captain Abid Khan took three wickets for 27 runs.

Street are third in the table.

In division five, Street's second team (128-6; Travis Barzey 42) won by four wickets at Thundridge (125; Peter Jackson 4-30, Trumayne Lintonbon-Baker 3-28, Daniel Pullen 2-44).

SELECTIONS for the racing at Harlow Greyhound Stadium tomorrow (Friday June 14):- 7.30 Annewtown Tapper; 7.49 Drumragh Pudsey; 8.08 Satin Babe (NAP); 8.27 Shamone Blaze (NB); 8.46 Indigo Kate; 9.04 Knockeen Angel; 9.22 Mini Delight; 9.40 Falkners Meg; 9.58 Jules Jestie; 10.15 Dead Silence.

Crocked Rockets draft in Auty

RYE House Rockets have drafted in rising star Josh Auty as guest replacement for injured Oly Allen as they look to get their disastrous start to the Premier League season back on track against Sheffield this Saturday (7pm).

Auty was a reserve at last week's British Speedway Grand Prix in Cardiff, picking up one point when he came in for Tai Woffinden.

Rockets will be hoping the Yorkshire rider, who doubles up for Scunthorpe in the Premier League and Birmingham Brummies in the Elite League, shows some of his no-holds-barred riding style around the Hoddesdon circuit.

Rockets went down in their opening home Premier League meeting of the season 46-44 to Plymouth Devils and lost the services of their top two riders – Allen and Jason Bunyan – through injury.

Bunyan's injury wasn't serious. He had a bruised hip which was treated with ice and he is expected to be back in action against Sheffield, but Allen suffered a broken arm.

Allen, who had been unbeaten in three races, overcooked the second corner in Heat 13, locked up and Plymouth's Nick Morris tried to avoid him, but clipped his back wheel.

The Rockets number one was kept in hospital overnight in his home city of Norwich on Saturday and operated on the following day following confirmation of the break – which occurred in the area in which Allen had had a metal plate inserted following a previous similar injury.

Allen tweeted afterwards: "Out from surgery, all went to plan I believe." He said he was "absolutely gutted" by the accident.

Rockets team manager John Sampford is tentatively estimating a period of between four and six weeks before Allen is back in action.

The hosts gave up a 10-point advantage against Plymouth with three races remaining to lose by the narrowest of margins as the Devils racked up 5-1 maximums in the remaining heats.

The meeting was incredibly tight as five heats were held with the honours shared 3-3.

There was a stunned silence in Heat 6 after skipper Bunyan, charging hard after taking the lead, smashed into the second bend safety fence at full throttle.

After a heart-stopping delay as he was attended to by first aiders and a paramedic, he got up and was able to walk back to the pits.

However, he was able to take no further part in the meeting.

Essex sting in the Tayl

KEELEY Taylor retained her Essex County Championship squash title in style.

The player from Harlow beat old rival Phillippa Nellar from the host club Kingswood in Basildon 3-0.

The pair have had many tussles over the years with Taylor mainly getting the upper hand and this time proved no exception.

This came after Taylor beat county vet Nikki Taylor (no relation) from Colchester 3-1 in the last four. Nikki was a tricky opponent with her accurately placed shots, but Keeley's speed and power were decisive.

The last two matches came after the Harlow player had come through several rounds.

Town win thriller with two balls left

IT could not have been much closer or more exciting as Harlow Town won by three wickets at Benfleet with just two balls to spare in division three of the Shepherd Neame Essex League.

Earlier, visitors' skipper Ashley Alderson won the toss and fielded first.

A high score was likely on a flat and dry pitch with a fast outfield.

The home batsmen all made starts but Town managed to remove them before they caused real damage with the exception of skipper David Wright.

He made a very useful 52 not out with Benfleet totalling 251 for 4 from 50 overs.

In reply, Darryl Pettengell was dismissed for 0 and he was soon followed by Shaun Alderson who was trapped lbw by a low delivery for 2.

Matthew Hurley was joined by Scott Alderson and the pair took the score to 83 from 24 overs before Alderson went for 29.

Town then lost Hurley for 58 and needed 160 from the final 25 overs.

The balance of the game then shifted to Town.

A useful supporting knock came from Charlie Coleman (20) but it was Ramya Upadhyay who made the difference.

He made a brilliant 79 before he was dismissed in the 48th over.

The visitors were then guided home by a combination of Ashley Alderson (23 not out), Daniel Farmer (5) and Jack Elston.

Elston struck the first ball off the last over for four before scampering a bye off the fourth ball to clinch victory.

Town skipper Ashley Alderson said: "It was a great performance from everyone and I think on the day we just about deserved the victory although it could have gone either way at the death."

"Ramya was exceptional with the bat and his innings undoubtedly made the difference. It gives us a positive platform to enter the time games [starting on Saturday June 15] and it is vital that we follow this up with more positive results."

On Sunday, Harlow Town lost to division one outfit Woodford Wells by 81 runs in their first Dukes T20 cup fixture.

The more experienced Wells team batted first and Zain Iqbal top scored with 44 not out as Woodford totalled 185-6 from 20 overs.

In reply, Scott Alderson top scored with 23 and Dan Farmer made 17 not out as Town replied with 105 for 8.

Ashley Alderson said: "We always knew the T20 games would be hard this year with the draw pairing us with one division one side and two premier league sides. On paper this was the easiest of the fixtures."

"It's very much a learning experience."

He added: "It's a very tough few games but the experience will do all the youngsters good. We also hope to have a few players back for the next couple of games."

Osagie switches focus as Bolt loses

ATHLETICS

ANDREW Osagie, pictured top, remains in joint third place in the Diamond League standings.

The prestigious competition switched from the USA to Europe last Thursday when the headlines were grabbed by the defeat of Olympic 100metre champion Usain Bolt.

There was also a reappearance on the international stage for Britain's Phillips Idowu but he struggled to seventh in the triple jump.

He had last competed at the Olympics in London.

It was understood Osagie, from Harlow and a former student at Burnt Mill School, might head to Rome but he is instead concentrating on an intensive training schedule.

Mo Amin won the 800m in Rome in a time of 1 minute 43.61 seconds.

Osagie, 25, is not expected to head out to Oslo in Sweden for the next stage of the Diamond League today (Thursday).

The Harlow Athletic Club member will next compete in the Diamond League on June 30 when the competition comes to Britain for a meeting in Birmingham.

Osagie has two points in the early stages of the Diamond League.

World Record holder David Rudisha heads the table with eight points from Ethiopian Olympic medalist Aman in second.

Osagie will attempt to make the GB team for the World Championships in Moscow in August.

IS OSAGIE GOOD ENOUGH TO WIN A MEDAL AT THE WORLD CHAMPIONSHIPS?

CHAMPIONS: The Church Langley girls team won the Harlow Girls Kwik Cricket Festival

CHURCH Langley triumphed in the annual Harlow Schools' girls kwik cricket tournament.

More than 100 players, comprising 12 school teams, turned up at Harlow Town Cricket Club to compete in the third annual Harlow School Sports Partnership Festival.

The teams all received coaching from the club's coaches and then took part in an inter school competitive festival.

The first stage of the festival saw the teams compete in the group stages with the winner of each group progressing to the semi-finals.

Church Langley, Latton Green, Roydon and Pear Tree Mead primary schools all made the semis.

After some close semis Church

Langley and Roydon made it into the final and after another close match the Harlow school emerged victorious by six runs and retained the title they have won ever since the festival was launched.

Church Langley will go on to represent Harlow Schools at the county final, taking place on July 2 at Billericay Cricket Club.

Latton Green defeated Pear Tree Mead in the third-place play-off.

Along with Langley's three teams and the other-semi-finalists, there were two sides from Holy Cross, another from Pear Tree Mead, as well as Abbotswood, St Luke's and Tany's Dell.

While the final was taking place all the other school teams took part in friendly matches.

George Gardiner, Harlow SSP Manager, said: "It was great to see over 100 children competing against each other in such good spirit, particularly given that the weather was not kind and we were not participating in cricket weather."

"Everyone who took part deserves a massive thank you for making the day such a success with particular mention to the support the event gets from Harlow Town Cricket Club who hosted and assisted with the event and to Harlow College who supported the event with Sports Leaders."

First medal for Harlow Volleyball Club

AN important landmark was set by Harlow Volleyball Club when they won some silverware for the first time.

The Passmores-based team won the Tachikara plate cup final when they beat Chelmsford based team Exiles by three sets to nil in the final at Brentwood International Leisure Centre.

Harlow play in the Essex

League.

The final was held as part of the county finals day.

Team coach Ilia Kalanov said: "This is the first trophy Harlow have won since I myself started to develop volleyball in Harlow two years ago."

"I believe it will not be the last as we are just starting."

He added: "The whole team played very well and we were good in all areas. We very organised in attack and defence. Our serve was also really powerful."

The victory came after Harlow had beaten Brentwood 2-0 in the last four. The teams in this competition were knocked out in an earlier round of the Essex Volleyball Rucanor Cup.

BBC pundit presents cup to side

RIDSSEN Wood's joy at winning a football tournament in West Sussex was enhanced by Leicester City and Millwall striker Steve Claridge presenting them with the trophy.

Ryan Heath scored the winning goal to clinch the trophy.

Ridsen's opponents included academy teams and the Harlow team were unbeaten over five matches.

In their other games, Ridsen Wood A beat Ridsen Wood B 5-1, Selsey Seals 5-1 and Havant & Waterlooville from

Runner Jamie tested to limit

MEMBERS of Harlow Running Club have been tested to the limits of their endurance in recent races.

Jamie Jephcott completed the arduous Endure 24 event – a 24-hour race run over a five-mile loop of woodland trails in Aldermaston, near Reading.

He finished a tremendous fourth place out of 73 finishers, completing 22 laps for total distance of 110 miles in 24 hours, 40 minutes, having started his final lap before the 24-hour time limit.

At the Southend Half Marathon, Colin Moody finished in 275th place out of 1,903 finishers in a superb one hour 37.46.

He was followed home by Catherine Ridge (1,003rd, 54.53), Joy Hale (1,396th, 2:05.32), Linda Hawkins (1,481st, 2:09.16) and Vicky Calver (1,844th, 2:37.02).

At the St Albans Half Marathon, on a very hilly course, John Tennant finished in 302nd place out of 2,560 finishers and 1st Vet 60 in an excellent time of 1:38.14.

In the Great Easton 5 Mile race, Richard Solomons was 33rd out of 111 in a superb 35.41.

He was followed home by Pasquale Pellicchia (38th, 37.17), Debbie Smith (83rd, 44.39) and Robin Lozeau (51st, 39.28).

BATTS secure Norton Cup win

HARLOW table tennis team BATTS Ocelots did just enough to squeeze through and beat Epping-based team Allnutts A 5-4 in the Norton Cup final.

The Harlow Table Tennis League competition, hosted by Water Lane Table Tennis Club in Bishop's Stortford, saw a tight encounter.

Allnutts' John Monk was a thorn in Ocelots' side, winning two singles matches against BATTS' Andy Hewitt and Jamai Dennison as well as a doubles clash with team-mate Gurjit Bhambra.

However, Ocelots bounced back from 4-3 down to win the last two rubbers.

Ocelots captain Kuan Limson then defeated Gurjit 10-12, 10-12, 10-12 in the closest of contests to make it 4-4.

The final doubles decider went to the BATTS team in three straight sets.

The fortunes were reversed as BATTS Lynxes lost 7-2 to Allnutts B in the Consolation Cup final.

Allnutts were in control for most of the match despite a brief late rally from Lynxes James Knudsen.

Admiral take Pairs KO title

DARTS

SOME 104 players started Harlow & District Premier Darts League's Knockout Pairs contest last Friday.

Dave Galloway & Keith Arber (White Admiral) beat reigning champions Steve Salter & Henry Woolhead (TG Whites) in the final, coming from 1-0 down to win 3-1.

Salter and Woolhead defeated John Wildish & John Cashman (White Admiral) 2-0 in their semi-final, with Galloway & Arbour overcoming Paul Wilsher & Jeff Etherington (ServoLink) by the same score.

Results of selected quarter-finals: John Wildish & John Cashman 2, Jim McClelland & Scott Melville 1; Steve Salter & Henry Woolhead 2, Frankie Byrne & Mick Adderson 1; Dave Galloway & Keith Arber won 2-1.

Darrell finally hits bullseye after 15 years!

BETTER late than never – that's how Darrell Claydon must have been feeling after winning the Harlow Owls Open Darts Knockout after 15 years of asking.

The competition, held at Great Parndon Community Centre, saw 180 people pack into the main hall to witness an enthralling day's darts.

Thanks to sponsorship from the Great Parndon Community Association and Holsten, prize money was paid to the top 16, with winner Claydon pocketing £300.

Claydon, who hails from Rayleigh, overcame Harlow's Dave Galloway 5-2 in the final.

Results: Places 9-16 –

Damian Green, Michael Barnard, Darren Richardson, Paul Wilsher, Gareth Thomas, Tony Saunders, Chris Gdman and Dave Omera (each received £10).

Places 5-8 – Jason Wiles, Daniel Day, Peter Brown and Barry Lynn (£30 each).

Places 3 and 4 – Jamie Robinson and Nathan Derry (£75).

Best Lady was shared equally by three players – Penny Klimcke (Sawbridgeworth), Lucy Ward-Geddes (Herts) and Jackie McNally (Harlow), who won £10 each.

Highest outshot of 158 by Peter Brown (Harlow) won him £25.

Quarter-final results and scores: Claydon 4, Jason Wiles 1; Jamie Robinson 4, Daniel Day 1; Nathan Derry 4, Peter Brown 1; Galloway 4, Barry Lynn 1.

Semi-finals: Claydon 5 Jamie Robinson (Essex) 2, Galloway 5; Nathan Derry (Suffolk) 3.

A delighted Claydon told the Star: "I've entered the event for approximately the last 15 years with a few semi-final appearances and now finally achieved the win."

Galloway, who played superbly throughout the day, lost his touch somewhat in the final – but to finish second out of 118 was still an excellent achievement.

The cream of the county

MARK Hall School student Canaan Solomon will race in front of the Sky Television cameras when he represents Essex at the English School Championships at the Alexandra Stadium in Birmingham on July 5-6.

The 14-year-old, right, earned his selection following his win in the 1,500metres junior boys event at the Essex Schools Championships at Chelmsford last Saturday.

Canaan's coaches were hoping the youngster could run at a pace on Saturday that would bring him home in 4 minutes and 10 seconds, however a cold wind on the back straight ruled that out but he still clocked 4.13 a personal best (PB), which ranks him fifth in England.

"We want Canaan to go to Birmingham and mix it with the top runners in the country and he is yet to be beaten in any track race this season. Our aim is to help him achieve a top three place in the final on July 6th," said Essex coach John Stow.

The Harryman sisters also secured medals at the Essex competition.

Naomi (15) competed for West Essex Schools in the triple jump and leapt 10.68m, which gave her gold and ensured she was nearly a metre ahead of her nearest rival.

Bethany Harryman (12) competed in her first ever competition and completed the high jump in 1.30m for West Essex Schools, which gained her a silver medal.

Both girls attend St Mark's School in Harlow.

Mum Michelle said: "It was an emotional day. The girls try so hard. It is lovely to see them both rewarded."

In the intermediate boys 3km race, Perry Rowan (16), a Burnt Mill School student, kept up with the pace all the way only to lose first place over the last 200 metres.

Perry's time was 9.02, just outside his PB.

Eleanor Moss (15), a Passmore's student, was third in the intermediate girls javelin.

In the Year 7 boys 800m, Lewis Harknett (12), a Stewards School student, was fourth.

In the Year 7 girls 600m, Kyesha Robinson (11), a Burnt Mill student, placed second in her race and fifth overall in a PB of 1:48.2, only one tenth of a second away from the bronze medal position.

Mark Hall's Jodi Ratcliff (14) was fourth in the junior girls 800m final (2.25).

Amy Edwards (14), a Passmore's pupil, was fifth in the intermediate girls 800m final in 2.29.

Harlow just 'two' good for Wickford

A MEMORABLE weekend was enjoyed by Harlow as they completed a league and cup double over Wickford.

The Marigolds side thrashed Wickford away by 121 runs in the third round of the Shepherd Neame Essex League Cup.

Sunday's victory gives Harlow a spot in the last eight for the first time in more than 10 years and they will face premier league side Buckhurst Hill in the quarter-final.

It came after Harlow had bounced back from three consecutive league defeats with a 44-run home victory over Wickford on Saturday.

Harlow skipper Luke Heskett said: "It was a great weekend and there were so many good performances."

On Sunday, Harlow batted first and lost Luke Monger cheaply but Rehman Ahmed and second team skipper Jon Perry combined brilliantly in a swift partnership of 114 before Ahmed was caught and bowled superbly by ex-Essex player Darren Robinson for 60.

The score then quickly progressed past 150 before Ahmed Khawaja was caught behind for 18.

Perry was then run out for a superb 81 before Harlow were bowled out for 229.

Wickford's hopes of chasing the score down were obliterated by Andy McGarry who blew the home top order. Their last hopes were pinned with Robinson but Khawaja superbly bowled the ex-pro for 28.

Rizwan Sadiq took the final wicket as Harlow skittled the hosts for just 108.

McGarry (5-27) and Khawaja (4-23) were the chief destroyers.

On Saturday, Harlow batted first.

They lost two early wickets but Anthony Webb, opening the batting for the first time, went on to register a brilliant 62.

He linked well with Khawaja who went on to make an excellent 74 as Harlow totalled 233-8 in their 50 overs.

Then, Harlow's opening pair of McGarry and Monger reduce Wickford to 43-3.

This brought Robinson and ex-Essex wicket-keeper Robert Rollins, and they took score to 104-3 before an amazing two overs after drinks saw the game swing completely.

Sadiq combined with keeper Andre Riddell to remove the dangerous Robinson before Webb dismissed Rollins to edge behind to another excellent Riddell catch.

There was some resistance but Wickford hopes were dashed by the returning Monger who tore through the Wickford tail to bowl them out for 189 to finish with season best figures of 4-42.

Heskett added: "Ant Webb looked a class act for his 62. Andy McGarry bowled superbly on both days. He looks to be hitting his straps."

Mitchinson seals England home nations return

STEVE Mitchinson is confident he can handle the pressure after Bowls England named him in the team for the British Isles Men's International Series.

The 37-year-old member of Tye Green Indoor Bowls Club in Harlow, will be playing at the event in Dublin, Ireland, on the weekend of June 29-30.

Mitchinson, along with John McGuinness from Buckinghamshire, has been recalled.

There are also four new faces in the 24-strong England squad.

Mitchinson, who was a reserve last year, played for England two years ago when he won one, drew one and lost one.

He said: "I know what the standard is and what is required. I will be more relaxed."

"I know what is going on and will be more prepared for it."

Mitchinson, of Challinors in Harlow, was not surprised by his selection for England.

He said: "I played really well at the trials two weeks ago in Shipston-on-Stour [in Warwickshire]."

"I had some strong games and I was quite hopeful of getting in. When you play that well you have got a good chance of getting in."

Mitchinson, who is also a member of Romford Bowls Club, played for Essex when they beat Leicestershire by seven shots in a county doubles tournament last weekend.

EXCITED: Cyclist Laura Trott after receiving her OBE medal from the Prince of Wales at an investiture ceremony at Buckingham Palace

OBE Trott the wheel deal

A NERVOUS but excited Laura Trott collected her OBE at Buckingham Palace.

After picking up her award from the Prince of Wales, the double Olympic cycling Harlow-born champion, said: "I was talking to a soldier who was being honoured and thought maybe I do not deserve this because all I do is ride a bike - that is my day job. I love it but this is so amazing. I have been so nervous. "It is more nerve-wracking than riding a bike plus I am here with all of these amazing people who have done great things. I do not really feel I should be here for doing my day job but it has been so exciting - not just for me but for my family."

"There is no pressure in this and I got to see my mum Glenda getting ready to go to Buckingham Palace which is not the sort of thing that happens every day."

Trott, 21, made a stunning Olympic debut at the London 2012 Games where she rode away to gold in the omnium and team pursuit.

The dominance of the world-beating trio of Trott, Dani King and Joanna Rowsell, led to them breaking the record six consecutive times in the team pursuit.

Trott, who now spends most of her time close to her Manchester training base, having purchased a house in Stockport, started cycling with her mother, who took up the sport to lose weight.

Trott was born a month prematurely suffering from a collapsed lung and doctors warned her parents that she might not survive.

But she has amazed all with her incredible spirit and determination.

Prince Charles recognised her as he presented her with the award and said the athletes had done "really good" work at the Games.

He asked Trott if she had to watch what she ate. Trott, still smiling, replied: "No, I ate Maltesers."
